WHO WE ARE

THE SCIENCE EXCHANGE IS A NON-PROFIT ORGANIZATION THAT CREATES LEADERS WHO USE SCIENCE, TECHNOLOGY, AND INTERNATIONAL TEAMWORK TO TACKLE GLOBAL CONSERVATION ISSUES.
OUR MISSION

IS TO TRAIN THE NEXT GENERATION TO BECOME SCIENTIFICALLY LITERATE, INTERNATIONAL TEAM PLAYERS THROUGH OUR HANDS-ON FIELD RESEARCH INTERNSHIPS.
WHERE WE WORK

COASTAL FIELD SITES AND LABS IN MEXICO, THE CARIBBEAN AND CENTRAL AMERICA
WE ARE UNIQUE

- Scholarships given to under-represented students
- University credits offered in more than 6 subjects
- Research based on real-world conservation issues
- Data are used by wildlife managers
- Local communities benefit from our help
Future scientists live and work side-by-side with local researchers and fishermen

WHAT WE DO

1. Training
2. Professional mentoring
3. Cultural immersion
4. Data collection
5. Writing
6. Dissemination of research
7. Career guidance
“Now I have a much better idea of what it takes to be a biologist and ecologist. Thank you once again for giving me this experience of a lifetime.”
– Ricardo Espinosa, Intern 2012

“Studying abroad for STEM students is not only important for the life of the student but also for the advancement of society”
- Elizabeth Kocek, Intern 2015
